

Why Holiday in Donegal?

The county of Donegal is located in the far north-west of Ireland. The Irish culture and language are strong here with one third of the people speaking the native tongue. Traditional music plays a strong role in pub entertainment.

The many miles of indented coastline offer spectacular views of dramatic cliffs and uncluttered beaches.

The interior is made up of glens and mountains-notably the Blue Stack and the Derryveagh mountains.

In this beautiful part of Donegal - Killahoey in Dunfanaghy, Portnablagh, Marble Hill and Ards - there are many beautiful beaches that attract sunbathers, families, fishermen and surfers.

The village of Dunfanaghy - and the nearby village of Port-na-Blagh - are popular tourist resorts with lively pubs and a good choice of restaurants and spas for any occasion.

There is something for everyone in this beautiful area, from horseback riding to golf, from browsing around the local art galleries to taking leisurely strolls along the magnificent beaches.

Searching for a place to go for your holidays?

Tory Lodge near Dunfanaghy in Donegal offers an ideal destination for a family break or romantic getaway! With activities such as horse-riding, fishing, beach or hill walking, cycling or surfing there is much to keep everyone, of all ages, very busy—or not at all, if you'd prefer to relax and simply enjoy the spectacular views from the Tory Lodge sun room.

Savour the beauty of the countryside from every window within this house. Should you venture out, you can enjoy the magnificent, yet quiet, beaches on your doorstep at Tramore, Killahoey, Marble Hill and Ards Forest Park which are all a short drive away.

You could take a day trip on the boat to Tory Island—where you may even be met on arrival by the island's King, Patsy Dan!

For the more adventurous, you may want to climb Muckish Mountain, fishing enthusiasts will find fishing at Sessiagh, Port Lakes and sea angling off Port-Na-Blagh harbour to be a rare pleasure. Or guests at Tory Lodge may want to pamper themselves with luxurious beauty treatments in a nearby spa.

You could take a drive around the numerous, stunning, scenic routes, from the splendour of the Atlantic, to the lush and equally rugged beauty of the Donegal countryside.

A Modern Lodge with Timeless Views

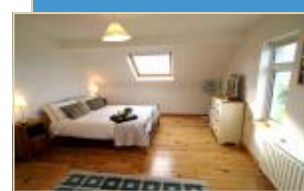

Tory Lodge offers the comforts of home—but with a view! Just a few of the amenities offered include:

- ☑ Sleeps 8 in four comfortable bedrooms—bed linen included
- ☑ Elevated site with stunning views towards Tory Island and Atlantic Coastline
- ☑ Bathroom with bath and separate shower on the ground floor
- ☑ Furnished minstrel gallery with wonderful ocean views
- ☑ Open plan ground floor with dining suite for 8 (self catering)
- ☑ Sunroom with ocean views
- ☑ Main living area with leather furniture suite and open fireplace

☑ TV, cd/stereo, DVD—although with the views and activities of beautiful Donegal we doubt you'll do much telly watching!

Tory Lodge offers guests a rest from their days activities with 4 luxurious bedrooms; an ensuite master bedroom on the first floor with a king-size bed and sea views of the Atlantic.

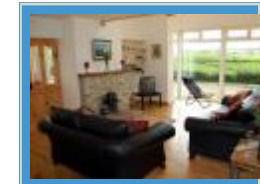

One double bedroom on the first floor with spectacular views of Muckish Mountain, one twin bedroom on the ground floor overlooking the fenced in back garden, and finally a ground floor bedroom with bunk beds that is perfect for children and has beautiful Atlantic ocean views.
